What Montana Mineral Production Will be for the Present

Mining Regions of Great Promise Where Little Work Has Been Done.

Dividends to Date-Latest Qu-tations of Stocks-Output of the Drum Lummon Mine.

As the year rolls on the mines of Moutnain gives promise of swelling the total product him of precisions metals ever last year. The management of the church, who care for their hopper grounderion has been considerably surfailed by the destruction of the Anacona do company a lower works by fire, but the Montana company has been production at the production that the production should be a sense of the construction of the Anacona do their capacity. The Boston of Montana company has been producing at the company produced of the company will produce over 14,000,000 pounds of copper week produced and look of copper week produced and look of the company produced of the company will produce over 14,000,000 pounds of copper week produced and look of the company will produce over 14,000,000 pounds of the company produced of the company produced of the company produced of the company produced of the company of the company produced of the compan Spotted Horse has already attained prominence as a gold producer, its product with a small 10-stamp mill being over $50,000 per month. The Drum Lummon and Jay Gould mines are holding their own in the yield of the yellow metal, as well as the Cable and Pyrenees, while the Southern Cross, Lone Pine, both gold properties, will soon begin producing gold bullion, as new quartz mills are being built for each.

What Montana is capable of doing in the matter of production cannot even be imagined. Many of her placer mines are still being worked and will require years of patient and persistent labor to exhaust, while her hills in every remote district are covertient and persistent labor to exhaust, while her hills in every remote district are covering up the hidden treasure which is known to be there. The Barker and Neihart, the Castle Mountain, the Cooke city, the Sweet Grass Hills, the Bitter Root Mountains, the Basin and Cataract districts, as well as the Park Mining district, are each ringions where mineral abounds either in high or low grades and only await the advent of capital or cheap transportation facilities to bring out and distribute their vast hidden wealth. Montana, though at present the foremost mining country on the Montana for a century to come.

"Does mining pay?" is a question often asked and answered various ways. There can be little doubt that it pays in Montana. Seven companies have paid over two and a half million dollars in dividends in this territory for the year 1889 up to October I. and are as follows:

Boston & Montana. $400,000
Granite Monnania 1.800,000
Hecla Con. 135,000
Jay Gould 74,000

Total.

Besides these there are the Anacor Chambers syndicate mines, the Blue Bird, Colorado company, Spotted Horse and other prominent producing mines whose aggregate profits will equal as much more if the facts could be ascertained. The great Granite Mountain mine is distributing $200,000 per month among its stockholders, while the Bi-Metallic equally as gigantic as the Granite Mountain, though recently just starting out as a heavy producer will soon be making its owners happy. The Iron Mountain will also be numbered among the dividend payers as it is producing over

$1,000 per day. It is understood from St. Louis that L. A. Coquard has instructed his attorney to bring action against the trustees of the West Granite company. This makes the poor stockholders ask, "Oh Lord, how long will this continue?" This Coquard is gaining a reputation as an obstructionist. He does not control over 15,000 shares of the cock, yet he appears to be able to impede the contemplated operations on the mine which the St. Louis syndicate proposes to put into execution. The people of Montana are anxious to see the West Granite, as well are anxious to see the West Granite, as well are anxious to see the West Granite, as well as any other mine, produce metal if it has any. As far as the West Granite properties are concerned, nobody but those on the inside know whether it is valuable or not, but in the light of recent occurrences, it is more than probable that a rich body of ore has been encountered, else, why should the heaviest owners of the Granite Mountain and Bi-Metallic be willing, and even anxious, to advance $150,000 in order to gain control of the property. The mining people of Montana, and particularly those at Chilipsburg, are anxious to see this prop-

New York a Center at Which They Are Fit ed for the Work.

Probably very few people know that New York is a sort of center for Mormon missionaries; not that they seriously undertake to make converts here, although some little effort is put forth in this direction. The Joe Smith Mormons have some sort of a mission here, with an elder, William Kelley, long active in the west, as their leader. These are known as the anti-polygamous Mormons, and do not work in harmony or fraternize with the main body of Utah. These missionaries come here for many purposes, the principal one of which is to meet the great number of incoming con-

The prisoner can demand the presence of this witness and need not accept a deposition from him. He figures that the expenses of the first trip would cost $200 or $300 and if he was bound over the cashier will have to make a second trip unless he would remain here, and in either case the expense would be about $500, and he doubts if the bank people would undertake this expense as long as they will not lose anything by the transaction, no matter how it results. Lonick appears to be well up in criminal Lonick appears to be well up in criminal law, and has several schemes laid, each ultimately resulting in his freedom. This gentlemanly fraud is treated with the greatest courtesy at the county jail, just as though he was better than anyone else. When a reporter visited the jail yesterday he was sitting in the jailor's office in a comfortable chair reading the paper and smoking a cigar, while the less fortunate prisoners jealously gazed at him, when they could. The jail officials seem greatly surprised, and even incensed, that The Independent made public the fact that Lonick's photograph had been discovered in Pinkerton's rogues' gallery.
